

HORIZON

Asian builder Horizon encourages customization in all its yachts, thus adapting them to different markets. An FD85 and an RP110 (raised pilothouse) are both in build for the US while hull No 2 of the FD85 is being specced for European inventory. Also under construction are an FD87 (which is No 4 in the FD85 series but is extended with a beach club), and a CC115 for American owners. Horizon has a loyal following and has recently launched its Eg8 Do it Now and the CC110 Abaco for repeat owners. Appearing as an official series only this year, the FD yachts have proven extremely popular and include the FD47, 85, 87, 102 and 122 within the expansive range.

BENETTI

Benetti has a semi-custom line-up ranging from fast to full displacement motor yachts. It is set to launch three new models from its Class line, including two Class D Mediterraneo 116s, with the first delivered in August. The 116 is great for outdoor entertaining, with a pretty sundeck and forward bow lounge with spa tub. Benetti has a busy year as it will also deliver hulls No 7 and 8 of the Crystal 140' - and the ninth is in build for next year. Also slated for 2018 is the launch of the Delfino 95'.

BAGLIETTO'S MV19

BAGLIETTO

With a background in crafting navy ships, this Italian yard has established itself with fast aluminum yachts ranging from 115 to 164ft, but it has more than one trick up its sleeve with steel and aluminum yachts in the 130ft-plus range and fast day boats based on its historic patrol boats. Currently under construction are a 141ft planing hull, as well as a 157ft and 180ft full displacement yachts. The most recent deliveries are the full displacement 157ft Andiamo and the 62ft MV19 Ridoc. In the pipeline are a 124ft Baglietto Fast concept, a hard chine, twin prop motor yacht designed by long time collaborator Francesco Paszkowski, and the V Line with vertical bow and designs by Hot Lab and Santa Maria Magnolfi.
